No 444.

THE Verſes inſerted in this Paper of the 12th Inſt. upon the Incident of the MOUSE caught by the Oyſter, having been ſo acceptable to the Publick that many of our Reader's have deſired they may be reprinted, we deferred it till we heard from the ingenious Author himſelf, who has been ſo good as to oblige us with the following Copy, which is more correct than the former, and embelliſhed with ſome Additions.

The MOUSE, and the OYSTER: OR,
MTO-OΣTPEION.
A TRAGI-COMIC POEM.

Divina opici rodebant carmina Mures.

ET loftier Bards the Hero's Acts relate,
I ſing the memorable Mouſe's Fate:
or let a Critic Ear the Theme refuſe, mortal made by the Maonian Muſe.

'Twas when the Veil of Night o'erſpread the Plain,
hen Rats and Fairies, Mice and Morpheus reign;
hen labo'ring Hinds forget the Toils of Day,
nd Philomel begins her love-ſick Lay.
hile the huſht Winds in peaceful Slumbers dwell;
nd boding Crickets ſound their midnight Knell.
'Twas then a daring Mouſe that long defy'd he various Stratagems which Kate had try'd;
is deſtin'd Doom receiv'd; for ſoon or late,
oth Mice and Monarchs muſt ſubmit to Fate.

Oft was the Moon with ſilver Luſtre crown'd,
nce the nocturnal Pyrate march'd his Round.
oon as his Foe, the Sun, had took its Flight,
ript forth the little Champion of the Night.
With cautious Tread; ſecure from fell Miſhap
f Puſs, of Poiſon, or tremendous Trap.
till at the Head of his rapacious Clan,
e ſkipt from Shelf to Shelf, and Pan to Pan;
With Noſe ſagacious ſmoak'd the baited Gin, Vary, and conſcious of the Snare within:
low feaſts on rich variety of Meats,
nd oft in Cheeſe his own Apartments eats;
egales on Floods of Cream, Ragouts and Cakes,
nd all the Dainties of the Day partakes:
ow ſtorms rich Conſerves with voluptuous Taſte, nd ſaps the tender Tenements of Paſte.
uddings, in vain, that come but once a Week,
a Cupboard high, a Sanctuary ſeek:
Where Locks and Bolts a Paſſage have forbid,
e gnaws Admiſſion, in a Time of Need.

When Pantry fails, in ſpite of watchful Cooks,
The Smuggler feeds on new Repaſt of Books,
unyan and Burton, both enrich'd with Greaſe, Vill often ſerve his Hunger to appeaſe.
ow Conjuring Books, Love-Jeſts, and Robin.hood, With Songs of Chevy-Chace are turn'd to Food.
ulpeper, Partridge, Hollinſhead and Stowe,
he Art of Paſtry, Robinſon Cruſoe, ll mangled lie, with Tales of Monks and Witches, eceipts for Agues, and laſt dying Speeches.
Thus Tartar-like, the Vagrant feeds on Prey, lunders all Night, and ſlumbers all the Day.

When ruddy Morn wakes the more ruddy Maid,
What Scenes of Ruin are around diſplay'd!
s Fragments here diſjointed Baſons lie, nd here the martyr'd Relicks of a Pie.
ow with uplifted Hands in Loaves ſhe ſees, ech'd Caverns yawn, and Sepulchres of Cheeſe:
ot more tremendous look'd the Cyclop's Cave,
r Cuma's Grot, hard by Averno's Wave.
ere mourns in Furrows deep, domeſtick Bacon, ere Fruits preſerv'd for Winter Tarts are taken.

But ah! the favo'rite Saucer gives moſt Pain,
Whoſe Brims, blue Letters in a Circle ſtain:
That Saucer which Kate's Swain, laſt Country Wake, Gave her, adorn'd with Motto, and with Cake;
'Twas then with weeping Eyes Revenge ſhe ſwore,
And threw the laſt ſad Remnants on the Floor.
'Twas then ſhe ſought ſome Spell in deep Deſpair,
And muſing mutter'd backwards half a Prayer.
Not with leſs Grief the Trojan Heroes found,
Their proſtrate Banquets ſcatter'd on the Ground;
When from on high devouring Harpys flew,
With horrid Claws, and all the Feaſt o'erthrew.

Yet long unharm'd the Epicure patroll'd,
And fearleſs o'er his ſilent Suburbs ſtroll'd;
Luxurious Nights in pleaſing Plunder paſt,
Nor dreamt that this was doom'd to be his laſt.

For now the Time,—the deſtin'd Time was ſent,
So Fate ordain'd —— and who can Fate prevent?
Thick Shades once more had veil'd the haunted Houſe,
Once more from Covert bolts the advent'rous Mouſe;
Lighting in evil Hour, in queſt of Prey,
Where in a Groupe th' avenging Oyſters lay.
The Fiſh commiſſion'd from the watry Throng,
With Tegument of ſcaly Armour ſtrong,
Lay with expanded Jaws, and gaping Shell,
(But who the ſad Cataſtrophe can tell?)
Thus lies the dreadful Monſter of Nile's Flood,
With open Mouth, extended on the Mud:
The dainty Mouſe, ſtill craving ſome new Diſh,
Enters the gloomy Manſion of the Fiſh,
With Beard exploring, and with luſcious Lip,
He longs the Pickle of the Seas to ſip:
Rous'd by his Tuſks, th' elaſtick Oyſter fell,
And caught th. Caitiff's Head in watry Cell.
In vain the Victim labours to get free
From Durance hard, and dread Captivity;
Lock'd in the cloſe Embrace, enſnar'd he lies
In Pillory ſafe, pants, ſtruggles, ſqueaks and dies.
Thus the juſt Fate of his own Crimes he meets,
Like Rakes expiring in deſtructive Sweets.
Hence let ambitious Minds, the Tale who hear,
This Moral learn — To move within their Sphere.
Thus ends the dire, diſaſtrous Night Campain,
And thus the Memorable Mouſe was ſlain.

But in Kate's Boſom, ſay, what Raptures glow,
When in the ſcaly Trap ſhe finds her Foe?
Her mortal Foe! —— detain'd in Bondage ſtrong,
Her Wiſhes granted, and reveng'd her Wrong?
While loud Rejoicings fill the reſcu'd Houſe,
And Neighbours crowd to view the ſlaughter'd Mouſe.
Now hangs the grateful Spoil on Beam ſublime,
Safe, where no Boys can reach, no Cats can climb.
Where Oſtridge Eggs, and Birds preſaging Weather, Dry'd Herrings, Hams, and Halcyons ſwing together.
How oft the Maſter views the wond'rous Prize,
And hails the Conqueſt with exulting Eyes!
And when beneath ſedate he ſits, and ſmoaks,
And cracks his Nuts, his Bottles, or his Jokes,
This Tale he tells, to grace the Chriſtmas Pye,
And to the trophy'd Relicks points on high.

Dublin, Nov. 20. Laſt Wedneſday came on the Trial of the famous Captain M'Cullogh, on an Indictment in the King's Bench, for reſiſting with a Number of Riotous Perſons by Force of Arms, John Vernon, Eſq; High Sheriff of the County of Dublin, in the Execution of his Office, as mentioned in one of our former Papers; and after Examination of Witneſſes on both Sides, the Fact appeared ſo flagrant, that the Jury immediately brought in the ſaid Captain Guilty, who was remanded back to Gaol in order to receive Judgment of the Court, to the great Honour of the High Sheriff, who acted with ſo much Juſtice, Courage and Reſolution, that 'tis hop'd, the excellent Example he hath given will be followed by other High Sheriffs.

Yeſterday being the Anniverſary of the Birth of her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs of Wales, which was uſher'd in with Ringing of Bells, their Excellencies the Lords Juſtices received the Compliments of the Nobility and Gentry upon the Occaſion at the Caſtle. At One o'Clock the great Guns at the Barracks were fired 3 Rounds, which were as often anſwered by the ſmall Arms, and the Flags were diſplay'd. In the Afternoon their Excellencies went down the Strand, attended by the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, Nobility and Gentry, attended by a Regiment of Battle-Axe Guards. In the Evening there was a Play given to the Ladies, and the Night concluded with Ringing of Bells, Bonfires, Illuminations, &c

The ſame Day Mr. Crosbie was tried at the King's Bench and acquitted, for the Daniſh Money which was lodg'd in the County of Kerry by the Danes, who had their Ship wreck'd on that Coaſt in 1731.

Laſt Wedneſday the Dublin Yacht arrived here from Parkgate with Sir John Osborne, Bart. and ſeveral other Perſons of Diſtinction.

A few Days ſince the Race Horſe ſail'd from Parkgate to Liverpool, and is to go from thence to the Iſle of Man for his Grace the Duke of Athol, who is Sovereign in that Iſland, and is going to England.

Simon Broadſtreet, Eſq; Counſellor at Law, intends to ſtand Candidate at the next Election of a Member of Parliament for this City, in the room of Humphrey French, Eſq; deceaſed: And Maurice Cuffe, Eſq; ſtands for Recorder of Kilkenny, in the room of Darby Egan, Eſq; late Recorder; as does alſo Arthur Helliſham, Eſq;

The Lord Lanesborough is arrived here from his Country Seat.

Aſhton Under-Line, Nov. 18. This Day was married at this Church, by the Right Rev. the Biſhop of Cheſter, Peter Davenport of Macclesfield, Eſq; to Mrs. Dukinfield, Relict of the late William Dukinfield, Eſq; an agreeable Lady, of great Merit, and above 10,000 l. Fortune.

The Queen has been pleaſed to give the Lord Hay (Brother to the Marquis of Tweedale) a Regiment of Dragoons in this Kingdom, by the Death of Sir Adolphus Oughton.

On the 16th Inſtant died at Carrickfergus Clement Courtney, Eſq; a Burgeſs of that Corporation, who had diſcharg'd the Office of Sheriff of that County three Years with Approbation, and is greatly lamented by all that knew him.

From Funt's Town near Athy. in the County of Kildare, we have the following melancholy Account. On the 15th Current about 12 at Night, the Houſe of Mr. Richard Alcock, was ſet on Fire by ſome Villains as yet undiſcover'd, who climb'd up a Turf Stack that ſtood cloſe to the Houſe, put a lighted Turf under the Eves on the Part of the Houſe which fronted the Wind; the whole Houſe was in a Moment on a Flame, all the Family aſleep but a Maid who rouz'd them. They ſaved nothing but two Feather Beds, not even the leaſt change of Cloaths or Linnen.

'Tis remarkable, that the ſame Perſon had his Houſe twice ſet on Fire and burn'd down about two Years ſince, and laſt Auguſt a large Stack of Peaſe in his Field was burn'd at Noon Day, but he has never been able to diſcover the Incendiaries.

LONDON

We have received theſe farther Particulars relating to the Bank erecting at Copenhagen.

'The Subſcribers are to pay in 25 per Cent. for 'each Share by the End of December; 10 per 'Cent. 6 Months after, and by the End of the Year '1737, 10 per Cent. more, which is in all 45 per 'Cent. within the firſt Year. If there be a Neceſſity for a new Call, the ſame is to be determin'd 'by a Majority of Voices in the General Court of 'the Proprietors. But never more is to be demanded 'or paid in than 10 per Cent. in 6 Months Time, 'and never ſhall any Sum be demanded above the 'original Subſcription; the Proprietors are to have '4 Months Notice beforehand for the Payment of 'their Money. The Directors of the Bank are to 'be 9 Merchants and 3 Civilians, beſides 3 other 'Perſons of Character who are to have the Cog'nizance of every Thing tranſacted at the Bank, 'but no Vote nor any Power to diſpoſe of the Money. 'The Bank is to lend no Money but upon the moſt 'ſubſtantial Security, nor to advance any upon

Houſes

Houſes and Land, but upon legal Bonds by which ſuch Houſes or Lands are mortgaged; and that only for 6 Months, and to none but the Proprietors of ſuch Bonds. They may alſo lend Money upon ſuch Goods as are not periſhable, and upon Bills of Exchange of Merchants of good Credit; and they are to take no more than 4 per Cent. for their Loans. They are to make up their Accompts at the End of every Year, and pay the Dividend to the Proprietors, who if they have a Mind to draw out their Money at the End of 4 Years, ſhall be punctually paid what is due to them upon the Balance. The Office is to be eſtabliſhed at the Caſtle of Charlottenbourg; and the King who is to defray all the Charges of the Direction for the 3 firſt Years, ſolemnly engages to maintain them in all their Immunities and Privileges. One of the great Advantages propoſed by this Bank is, that if a Merchant has a Bill of Exchange to pay, and can't ſell his Goods upon the Spot to raiſe the Money, he will always be ſure of it upon any ſuch Emergency at the Bank, on paying a very moderate Intereſt. When the Subſcriptions are compleated, of which there are but few wanting, the King will appoint the Directors.'

The Eaſt India Companies erected in the Northern Parts of Europe, give great Uneaſineſs to the Dutch Eaſt India Company, who complain that of late Years their Trade is conſiderably fallen off, as their High Mightineſſes Deputies were convinc'd at the General Court of that Company which was held laſt Month: And this is what they very lately declar'd in a Memorial preſented to their High Mightineſſes, wherein they ſay they ſhall be obliged to make Uſe of Force for confining the Daniſh and Swediſh Commerce within their ancient Limits, if the States General don't procure them proper Satisfaction.

Laſt Thurſday William Roe, of Putney, Eſq; kiſs'd her Majeſty's Hand at Kenſington, on his being appointed an Enſign in the Regiment of Foot commanded by General Sutton.

Laſt Night the Corpſe of Lieutenant General Groves, after lying in State in the Jeruſalem Chamber in Weſtminſter Abby, was carried from thence to the Cloyſters of the ſaid Abby, near the Remains of Daniel Pultney, Eſq; and Lieutenant General Withers: The Choir attended in their Formalities, &c. and his Pall was ſupported by the Right Hon. the Earl of Coventry, General Wills, General Barrell, General Kirk, Sir Robert Rich, Bart. and the Hon. Colonel Montague.

Laſt Sunday died at his Seat near Rutland, Jacob Freeman, Eſq; a Gentleman poſſeſſed of 2000 l. per Annum.

Next Tueſday being St. Andrew's Day, the Tutelar Saint of Scotland, will be held the annual Meeting of the Royal Society, at their Houſe in Crane Court, for chuſing a Preſident, and 10 Gentlemen to be of the Council, a Treaſurer and two Secretaries, for the Year enſuing; after which the Company will proceed to Pontack's to an elegant Entertainment.

Yeſterday one Mr. Kelſey, of Hart-ſtreet, Covent Garden, was found dead in a Field near Tottenham Court Turnpike, leading to Hampſtead, where he went the Day before to ſee ſome of his Friends: There was no Marks of Violence on him, ſo 'tis ſuppoſed he died of a Fit of an Apoplexy.

John Trevanion, Eſq; Knight of the Shire for the County of Cornwall, who was reported to have died at his Seat there, is now in a good State of Health.

Laſt Night Gilbert Fruer, otherwiſe William Gill was committed to the Gatehouſe by Col. De Veil for further Examination, upon a very ſtrong Suſpicion of aſſulting upon the King's Highway Mr. Benjamin Short, Turn-cock to the Hampſtead Company, near Tottenham Court, ſtripping, binding and gagging him: The Perſon robbed has ſworn poſitively to him; but it being 6 o'Clock at Night when he was robbed laſt Tueſday, and there being a great Probability that ſome ſtrong Circumſtances will confirm his Accuſation. He is to be re-examin'd on Monday next. Fruer has acknowledged that he was a conſiderable Time a Smugler; and prevaricated very much upon his Examination.
